About the Strategic Learning Initiative (SLI)

We believe that development and social change are greatly enhanced by the availability, accessibility and use of research and information. The Strategic Learning Initiative (SLI) stimulates learning and develops capacity among information and knowledge intermediaries who share this belief. We do this by facilitating learning and innovation and by sharing critical thinking and examples of best practice. Our areas of expertise are Capacity Development, Research, Marketing and Monitoring and Evaluation. SLI is based in the Information Department at the Institute of Development Studies (IDS), Sussex and supports the IDS Knowledge Services. SLI is funded by the Department for International Development (DFID) through the Mobilising Knowledge for Development (MK4D) programme.

About this publication

This market analysis is one of a series of reports commissioned in 2005 by the Strategic Learning Initiative to support the marketing activities of the DFID-funded Mobilising Knowledge for Development programme. The reports explore the size and structure of a number of key sectors of interest to information and knowledge intermediaries in development, including government, academia, libraries and the media. The researchers used publically available sources, enabling readers to maintain the accuracy of the findings, including contact details. Reports were commissioned for: Bangladesh, Bolivia, China, Ghana, India, Kenya, Mozambique, Nigeria, Rwanda, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia. These reports were reformatted to be published online in 2009 and are available as a free download from:

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE AND GENERAL METHODOLOGY

At the request of the Institute of Development Studies at the University of Sussex in Brighton, England, InterMedia Survey Institute has conducted a desk research study with the aim of providing an overall market size and structure for each of the 12 countries specified in the research agreement. This study compiles and presents informational findings from publicly available sources, toward six specific categories of inquiry, as outlined in the preceding table of contents. This includes a full informal documentation of all such sources. Where key information is available but from a non-reproducible source, a direct and/or “deep” hyperlink has been provided, with the permission of the link’s host. Where appropriate, a brief explanation, aimed at guiding the reader toward the source’s intended use, may accompany the link.

Although research efforts have been exhaustive, the below information is merely a general snapshot of the market as InterMedia’s research has best been able to uncover it and, as such, cannot be guaranteed to be entirely comprehensive.

JUDICIAL BRANCH:
http://www.ilo.org/public/english/employment/gems/ceo/law/banglae/c_suprem.htm,
http://www.bangladesh.gov.org, http://www.bangladesh.net/article_bangladesh/familiarising/fam_06_organsofthestate.htm#judiciary.

The Judiciary of Bangladesh is monolithic in structure. At its apex stands the Supreme Court which consists of a Chief Justice and a number of other Judges, all appointed by the President from among senior advocates and judicial officers. A Judge holds Office till he/she attains the age of 65 years and may not be removed from the Office except on the advice of the Supreme Judicial Council consisting of the Chief Justice and the next two senior Judges of the Supreme Court. Subject to the provisions of the Constitution, the Chief Justice and the other Judges are independent in the exercise of their judicial functions.

THE SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court is divided into two Sections, the High Court and the Appellate Court. The High Court hears original cases and reviews cases from the lower courts. The Appellate Court has jurisdiction to hear appeals against judgments, decrees, orders or sentences of the High Court.

Senior Officials of the Supreme Court:
Honorable Chief Justice of Bangladesh Justice KM Hasan
II. Market Size Methodology: InterMedia and DDO Breakdowns

As requested, we have provided estimated market size figures for each category of our inquiry (i.e., categories 2 to 6, with category 5 broken down further by sector). We have derived this market size figure by simply taking the sum of all the organizations and institutions we have unearthed in each requested category. We are calling this figure the InterMedia Breakdown. As such, each of the following sections of this report begins with this InterMedia Breakdown, informing at the outset the section’s corresponding estimated market size.

In addition, we have provided a second market-size breakdown for each country, in its own section preceding the categories 2 through 6. This breakdown, based solely upon categories and entries found within The Directory of Development Organizations (DDO) 2005, will be referred to as the DDO Breakdown. This breakdown is simply a manual count of the number of organizations within each DDO category in each country, as the DDO has organized it. Explored below is a broader description of the DDO and its categories.

DDO: A Brief Explanation of Use and Availability

The Directory of Development Organizations (DDO) 2005: Volume 1 (available at http://www.devdir.org/) is among the most comprehensive one-source listings that we have found covering development-related organizations within a particular country. Though non-reproducible, we have permissions to provide hyperlinks to this invaluable resource. These files are accessible to anyone with Adobe Reader and internet access:

Download either by Google Searching the below .pdf link, http://www.devdir.org/files/Bangladesh.PDF, or access it directly from http://www.devdir.org/asia_middle_east.htm.

About DDO

Though it appears to be a comprehensive development directory, the DDO makes no such claims; it primarily strives to include only those organizations that “fit the general criteria of promoting good governance, sustainable development and poverty reduction.”

As such, their alphabetically-arranged-per-country directory houses current contact information for all such organizations. This includes standard mailing and email addresses, telephone/fax numbers, and websites where relevant.

DDO Categories and the DDO Breakdown
DDO entries are listed by the below categories. To read DDO’s own definitions of how these categories are defined and how the classifications are derived, please refer to the below information, accessible on http://www.devdir.org/ and http://www.devdir.org/faqs.htm#faq5, respectively:

For each of the regions contacts have been annotated by the following 9 categories:
(1) international organizations; (2) government institutions; (3) private sector support organizations (including fairtrade); (4) finance institutions; (5) training and research centres; (6) civil society organizations; (7) development consulting firms (including references to job opportunities and vacancy announcements); (8) information providers (development newsletters/journals); and, (9) grantmakers…

The following are some examples of the organizations classified in one of the nine categories: (1) international organizations: including for example UN organizations, World Bank, IMF, IADB, AfSB, AsDB; (2) government: ministries, government institutions, planning agencies; (3) private sector support organizations: chambers of commerce and industry, fairtrade organizations, trade promotion organizations for SMEs; (4) finance institutions: central banks, national development banks, commercial banks, credit unions, microfinance institutions, finance houses; (5) training and research organizations: universities, research centres and institutions, training institutes; (6) civil society organizations: development foundations and associations, membership development organizations, microfinance institutions, faith-based development organizations, development programmes and projects; (7) development consulting firms: including job opportunities and vacancy announcements; (8) information providers: development newsletters/journals, development publishers, web resources, databases; (9) grantmakers: fundraising, charity and philanthropic organizations.

Thus, we have provided a count of the number of entries within each category for each country—i.e., the DDO Breakdown of market size for said-category in said-country. The DDO Breakdown, therefore, looks like this: “Civil Society Organization (CSO): 347”. This means that DDO lists 347 civil society organizations active and present in the country in question. (The term in parentheses is the term as it appears in the DDO entry.)

DDO BREAKDOWN FOR BANGLADESH

Below is the DDO Breakdown for market size in Bangladesh:

1) International Organizations (International): 36
2) Government Institutions (Government): 35
3) Private Sector Support Organizations (Private sector): 26
4) Finance Institutions (Finance): 31
5) Training & Research (Training and Research): 77
6) Civil Society Organization (CSO): 347
7) Development Consulting Firms (Consulting): 8
8) Information Providers (Information): 5
9) Grantmakers (Grantmakers): 0

For additional information, please refer directly to the DDO.
III. CATEGORY 2: SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH INSTITUTES AND SOCIAL SCIENCE/DEVELOPMENT STUDIES DEPARTMENTS

INTERMEDIA BREAKDOWN

Below is the InterMedia Breakdown for social science research institutes and/or social science/development departments, broken down by subject area. Due to hybrid programs, departments, and sub-departments/fields, as well as natural categorical overlap, the below is a very rough estimation and must be regarded as a heuristic guide only:

1) Humanities (Liberal/Performing Arts, History, Literature, Languages, Classical/Cultural Studies, Anthropology, Psychology, Sociology, Philosophy, Religious Studies, etc.): 138
2) Economics, Business Administration, Management, Accounting, Commerce, Trade: 76
3) Information & Communication Technology, Audio-Visual Arts, Broadcasting, Journalism, Media & Communication Studies: 57
4) Political Science, Public Administration, Government, Policy, Law: 82
5) International Affairs, Conflict Studies, National Security, Peacemaking: 36
6) Public Health, Pharmacology, Nursing, Medicine, Kinesiology: 51
7) Education & Specialized Training, Research & Training Methods, Statistics, Library Sciences: 74
8) Social Welfare, Rural & Urban Development: 76
9) Pure & Applied Biological, Environmental & Earth Sciences, Food & Agricultural Studies: 152
10) Pure & Applied Physical Sciences, Material & Polytechnical Engineering: 149
11) Women’s & Gender Studies: 38

Note: Methodological Variance

Please take note that the total numbers of Bangladesh’s research institutions may appear particularly large compared to those totals reported for some of the comparable countries covered up to this point. This variance is a result of recent changes and improvements in our classification- and count-methods.

Each country’s count has thus far been tallied under a slightly different set of categories to match each country’s unique research market; often times, past counts have excluded scientific and technical schools altogether. However, because science, technology and development can, and perhaps should, be viewed as inseparable functions, we have recently decided not only to take these previously excluded fields into consideration, but also to tally individual departments and programs, rather than institutions alone, in every category, for greater target specificity.
WOMEN’S & GENDER RESEARCH CENTERS:

The below sources are from http://www.capwip.org/resources/ba_brorg.htm:

BANGLADESH’S LIBRARIES
The below are derived from http://banglapedia.search.com.bd/HT/L_0098.htm, an online encyclopedia of, for, and relating to Bangladesh:

University of Dhaka
The premier academic library in the country with the largest collection is that of the UNIVERSITY OF DHAKA. It was established in 1921 with 18 thousand books received from the library of DHAKA COLLEGE.

National Library
http://banglapedia.search.com.bd/HT/N_0111.HTM
The NATIONAL LIBRARY at Sher-e-Bangla Nagar was established in 1985 with depository copyright. At present, it has over 200,000 volumes of books and journals and over 700,000 archival materials. It publishes the Bangladesh National Bibliography, abstracts of newspaper and magazine articles, a Directory of Publishers and a Bio-Bibliography of eminent scholars…

Sufia Kamal National Public Library
Set up in 1953, the Bangladesh Central Public Library in Shahbag (now known as Sufia Kamal National Public Library) is the largest of its kind with a collection of over 120,000 volumes, numerous daily newspapers, periodicals, journals and magazines. The Public Library Department is also housed in the Central Public Library. There are 3 divisional public libraries in Khulna, Chittagong and Rajshahi. In addition, there are now 21 regional, 64 district and 514 upazila public libraries. Many NGOs have their own libraries and some of them, for example, the ones of BRAC and Ahsania Mission, are fairly large. Some NGOs also run rural libraries.

Bangladesh Agricultural University
The library has C-D ROM, CABI and AGRIS databases, A-V materials and equipment, and documentation services. It is the FAO Depository Library in Bangladesh and has collections of the publications of international organisations such as UNO, UNESCO, UNICEF, WHO, IRRI, as well as special agricultural collections from SAARC countries and agricultural institutions of many different countries.

BANGLABANDHU SHEIKH MUJIBUR RAHMAN AGRICULTURAL UNIVERSITY

BANGLADESH AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE (BARI)
have rich collections, too. There are Agricultural College Libraries in Dhaka, Patuakhali, Dinajpur and Rajshahi as well.

BANGLADESH UNIVERSITY OF ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGY
There are numerous libraries specialising in science and technology. This library is the largest of them. The other important libraries include the ones of engineering colleges, the Islamic Institute of Technology (IIT), the Bangladesh Institutes of Technology (BIT), and the polytechnic institutes. However, their collections are mostly course-oriented.

The Bangladesh Science and Technical Information & Documentation Centre (BANSDOC) is particularly important because of its status of a holding member of the SAARC Documentation Centre.

IMPORTANT MEDICAL LIBRARIES

- National Health Library and Documentation Centre
- BANGBANDHU SHEIKH MUJIB MEDICAL UNIVERSITY
- Bangladesh Institute of Research and Rehabilitation in Diabetes, Endocrine and Metabolic Disorders (BIRDEM)
- Institute of Public Health

- DHAKA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRIES (DCCI)

Some other relevant associations have fairly good libraries containing professional books, parliamentary publications, commercial directories, financial bulletins, international tenders, magazines and newspapers and offer reading facilities, internet and email services for the business community.

A number of Excellent Regional Libraries have grown up in Bangladesh. Most important of them is the SAARC Agricultural Information Centre (SAIC), which provides all sorts of information and databases on agricultural sciences and allied disciplines of SAARC’s seven member countries.

The International Centre for Diarroheal Diseases and Research, Bangladesh (ICDDR,B) http://banglapedia.search.com.bd/HT/I_0012.HTM is an outstanding information centre extending most efficient documentation services both through internal and external resources.

The library of Centre for Integrated Rural Development in Asia and the Pacific (CIRDAP) also renders valuable services in the field of rural development.

Media Overview (BBC)

The main broadcast media in Bangladesh - Radio Bangladesh and Bangladesh Television - are state-owned and favourable to the government. Little coverage is given to the political opposition, except in the run-up to general elections when a caretaker government takes control. Although Bangladesh Television remains the country’s sole terrestrial TV channel, private satellite-delivered TV stations have established a presence. The constitution guarantees press freedom, but journalists are subject to regular harassment from the police and political activists. The media rights organisation Reporters Without Borders has described Bangladesh as “by far the world’s most violent country for journalists,” citing numerous assaults, threats and arrests. Bangladeshi newspapers are diverse, outspoken and privately-owned. The country has a strong tradition of owner-editorship. English-language titles appeal mainly to the educated urban elite. The authorities sometimes withdraw foreign publications from circulation over articles or images deemed malicious or offensive. The BBC World Service is available on FM in Dhaka.
