IDS BULLETIN

Edwards, D. and McGee, R (2016) Opening Governance, IDS Bulletin 47.1, Brighton: IDS

Open government and open data are new areas of research, advocacy and activism that have entered the governance field alongside the more established areas of transparency and accountability. In this IDS Bulletin articles review recent scholarship to pinpoint contributions to more open, transparent, accountable and responsive governance via improved practice, projects and programmes in the context of the ideas, relationships, processes, behaviours, policy frameworks and aid funding practices of the last five years.

Fittingly, Opening Governance is the first issue of the IDS Bulletin's new open access format. All articles are free to read online or download, and are licensed under Creative Commons. They have been published on a new, dedicated and responsive website, which means articles can also be read on mobile devices such as smartphones and tablets.

Access all the articles in this issue for free at:

ADVERTISE WITH US

We can help you reach leading academics and development specialists around the world by advertising on this IDS Bulletin website. Why advertise with us?

- IDS enjoys a global reputation for academic excellence: alongside our partners at the University of Sussex, we've been ranked World Number One for Development Studies by QS World University Rankings, above Harvard and Oxford.
- Our networks are second to none: we have over 390 partners around the world, a network of over 3,000 alumni and over 200,000 friends and followers on social media.
- Our publications and resources are widely read: last year our online institutional repository OpenDocs celebrated over 1 million downloads.

This is the first time IDS is offering online advertising space, so book your slot now. It is cost effective and our prices start from £250 per month. Full details: <http://bulletin.ids.ac.uk/idsbo/pages/view/advertise>

PERSONAL ADVERTS

Looking for a room in Brighton. I would love to find a room in a shared house with friendly flat mates. Can be short term or long term, starting from February. I am a visiting researcher from Berlin, Germany working on my PhD at the Institute of Development Studies (IDS) at Sussex University. I will be in Brighton until May 2017, but will travel frequently. I am very easy going, I love cats, cooking, photography and the sea. Preferably I'm looking for a room somewhere in central Brighton, or not too far from Sussex University campus, so that I can ride my bike to IDS. Ideally Hanover, Kemptown, Seven Dials, Western Road or nearby. Around £550 pm for rent would be fine. I would be happy to hear from you. Contact: Christian on christian.stein@ecointerfaces.net

Single room to rent. A professional (new IDS staff member) is looking for a single room/lodgings for a few days a week, ideally within five miles of Falmer. Happy to share with a family. If you have, or know someone has a room to rent, please let contact Seife at: seife.ayele@gmail.com and 07754 202452.
