

Knowledge, evidence and learning for development

Do you lack the time to keep up with emerging evidence in your specialist area? K4D can support you.

K4D is a free-to-use service designed to help all FCDO staff respond to complex development challenges and improve the impact of development policy and programmes through evidence and learning.

Request research evidence on a subject of your choice* and receive timely, rigorous analysis from a network of researchers and global experts.

Delivery times vary: rapid research reports utilise 6 researcher days, delivered within 3-5 weeks and more substantive reports provided in a timeframe that suits your needs.

K4D also runs Learning Journeys on a range of development topics, helping you to better understand topical issues and how learning can be applied to your work.

* As long as it is eligible for overseas development assistance (ODA)

Contact us now by emailing: helpdesk@k4d.info

Visit www.ids.ac.uk/k4d (Public resources only)

Visit K4D Online Learning Platform (FCDO only)

Follow K4D on Twitter: @K4D_info

K4D is funded by UK Aid from the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office

K4D is a consortium of the UK's leading development knowledge actors

